Charland, L.C. (2003). Heroin addicts and consent to therapy: A comment on Hall et al. (2003). Addiction. 98(11), 1634-35. [This is a commentary on an editorial that is largely devoted to my article ‘Cynthia’s Dilemma: Consenting to Heroin Prescription’. The editorial is ‘Addiction, Neuroscience, and Ethics’, by Hall, W., Carter, L. & Morley, J.K., published in the journal Addiction (2003), 98, 967-870. See also their ‘Heroin Addiction and the Capacity for Consent: A Reply to Charland’ (2003), by Wayne Hall, Lucy Carter & Kate Morley, in Addiction, 98, 1773-1776.]
